ABSTRACT

This bibliography lists 151 manuscripts, dissertations and theses, journal articles, and books on videotaped microteaching prepared by American sources between 1964-1978 that have not been indexed in the ERIC data base. The documents are in chronological order and include sources. (Author/CJ)

Videotaped microteaching was first used and reported in 1964. The number of documents issued on the subject increased each year, reaching a maximum during the years 1967 - 1970. The ERIC data base indexes over 200 of these documents on videotaped microteaching. This bibliography is intended to supplement the data base listing. It is a listing of manuscripts, dissertations and theses, journal articles, and books on videotaped microteaching prepared by American sources during the period 1964 - 1978 that are not indexed in the ERIC data base. Descriptions of uses of videotape in education in contexts other than teacher training have been excluded.
